

I am strongly OPPOSED to changing the rules of media ownership. Already there is too much steering and control of the news by commercial interests (which are not beyond being bought by political interests). The only way we can hope to preserve accurate reporting is by inviting competition through separate ownerships.